Clean record leads to clean shave

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

A classroom of sixth graders at Alyce Norman Elementary School enjoyed the fruits of their victory last Friday.

Their teacher, Mr. Knight, had made them a promise. If they – all of them – would refrain from any behavior that might earn them a suspension from school, for the entire year, he would shave off his mustache and goatee.

"I gave them maybe a ten percent chance," said Knight on Friday – as he set up for a very public shave at the front of his classroom. "I thought, somebody's going to have a fight on the playground, somebody's going to get mad and lose their temper. But you guys are unbelievable," he told his class.

As the end of the year approached, and Knight's students kept a clean record, the class put a "countdown" calendar overhead in their room, watching the days pass as they approached their goal.

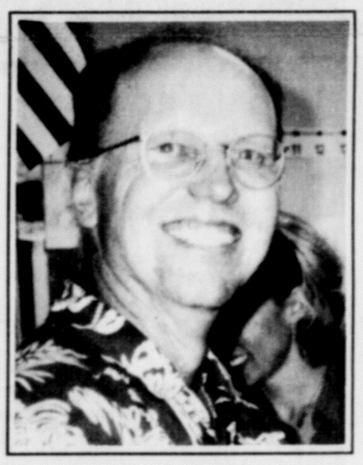

Principal Howard Kornblum confirmed that Knight's class was the only one of three sixth grade classes at the school to get through the school year with no suspensions.

To Knight, that meant the deal was a success.

"I just wanted to make sure that you were in school every day possible," he told the class. "I wanted to make sure you had the best chance to go on to the seventh grade. And unbelievably, everybody here is on track to the seventh grade."

JIM KNIGHT, sixth-grade teacher at Alyce Norman Elementary School in West Sacramento, says goodbye to his beard and mustache as his wife looks on. The razor helped him keep a promise to his students, who made it through an entire school year with no suspensions.

The shaving party to celebrate a year without celebrations also included a class party and a visit from a local TV station.

WUSD school board chooses new superintendent

■ New top manager is longtime West Sacramento resident who works for the state's education department

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

A new superintendent is scheduled to take the helm of Washington Unified School District on July 15. School board members approved a contract with Stuart "Stu" Greenfeld for the position at a special board meeting Monday night.

Two sources who were part of the selection process told the News-Ledger that Greenfeld was among the top picks of both the school board and the citizens' commission that helped the board judge candidates for the job.

Greenfeld, 62, is already familiar with the community. He lives in West Sacramento and is married to Aleesa Greenfeld, a West Sacramento native.

"My wife was born here and has lived here all her life," Stu Greenfeld told the News-Ledger following his appointment. "I've lived here about 15 or 16 years. I've been very concerned about the quality of education within this district. I really want to work with the residents and the staff to build a quality educational system. I expect to live here the rest of my life, and want to have great schools here for my neighbors and their children and grandchildren."

Greenfeld, currently an assistant superintendent of public instruction with the State of California, said he hopes to retire after doing what he can for W.U.S.D.

"This will probably be the last job I have, and I'm excited by the challenge," he said. "I told the board that I'd most likely work for three to five years before retiring."

Greenfeld will take over management of a district that faces challenges. Relations between the school board and last few superintendents have been cantankerous, and student test scores are mediocre at best.

He acknowledges that the socioeconomic background of W.U.S.D.'s students is somewhat challenging to educators, but said that "we can do better" in providing a higher quality education.

Greenfeld currently serves as the director of the school and district accountability division of the state's department of public instruction, where he works to ensure compliance with state and federal laws. Other duties have included a stint from 1992 to 1996 as state-appointed head of the Coachella Valley district in California's southeastern desert.

"That was the first district in the state of California put into receivership under the law by the state superintendent of public instruction," he said. "I was appointed to clean up the district and made acting superintendent. The district contained over 11,000 kids over 1,260 square miles, and served all or part of ten different communities. It was heavily made up of Hispanic, very poor communities.

'He knows the community, he has a proven track record of success, and I think he'll do a good job. I hope the board stays behind him.'
KARL MACHSCHEFES
SCHOOL BOARD MEMBER

"We essentially reduced the dropout rate, increased retention of kids in high school, rebuilt the infrastructure of 14 schools and built a $15 million middle school, adopted a new kindergarten through eighth grade curriculum, adopted a new assessment system, and reduced vandalism, burglaries and (graffiti) 'tagging' on school property."

Washington Unified school board member Karl Machschefes said that most of the people involved in looking for a new local superintendent were impressed with Greenfeld. He commented on what he is hoping for from Greenfeld's administration.

"I am hoping that where things are working, they will be left alone, and where they need to be changed, they'll be changed," said Machschefes. "There are things working well. But our schools can do a lot better than they are doing. (Greenfeld) is going to bring about some changes here over the next several years. He knows the community, he has a proven track record of success, and I think he'll do a good job. I hope the board stays behind him."

Since former superintendent Dr. Dennis Kelleher left his position among community controversy last year, the district has been headed by Patrick Campbell, a former assistant superintendent promoted to the superintendent's chair on an interim basis. Campbell was an unsuccessful candidate for the position that will become Greenfeld's.

Greenfeld has a bachelor's degree in psychology and master's degree in school psychology from California State University, Los Angeles. He performed post-graduate work at U.C. Berkeley and is a licensed educational psychologist. A state department of instruction employee for about 25 years, he also served as an elementary schoo' teacher prior to that.

McGowan drops bid for Assembly seat

Fellow supervisor Lois Wolk joins local councilman Christopher Cabaldon in contest

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

The race for election to the Eighth District seat of the California Assembly next year changed this week. In the heavily-Democratic district, a new Democratic candidate has declared her intention to run – and the first person to throw his hat into the race has retrieved that hat.

On Friday, Yolo County Supervisor Lois Wolk, a Davis resident, announced her candidacy for the seat.

Yesterday, fellow supervisor Mike McGowan of West Sacramento confirmed to the News-Ledger that he would be withdrawing from the race.

Fellow West Sacramento resident Christopher Cabaldon, a current city council member and past mayor, remains in the campaign.

McGowan commented Tuesday to the News-Ledger:

"I am going to be staying on as a Yolo supervisor for the remainder of my term, at least, and continuing to serve the communities of West Sacramento, Clarksburg and Yolo County," he said. "I'd rather be focused on the local issues of West Sacramento and Yolo County and District One, It's what I like and enjoy the best. I found myself being pulled too many ways (during the campaign for Assembly) to do that. I came to the conclusion that what I have is what I want."

McGowan added that he expected to be endorsing Wolk for the Assembly seat, and that a press conference was scheduled yesterday at the capitol for current Assemblywoman Thomson and former Congressman Vic Fazio to do the same.

MIKE McGOWAN

LOIS WOLK

Thomson is leaving the Assembly due to term limit rules, but will run for the State Senate.

McGowan, like Cabaldon, is a former West Sacramento mayor and veteran city council member for the city.

Wolk is a former city council member and mayor of Davis, and has served on Yolo County Board of Supervisors since 1996.

She said her concerns for local government led her to pursue the Assembly seat.

"I will fight to protect our regional economic vitality and the economic stability of local government," she said at her campaign kickoff. She also said she wanted to strengthen the educational system, promote "healthy and better communities" through regional growth policies, preserve agriculture and open space, and "fight for a reliable supply of good quality water for agriculture, the environment and the cities."

Summer reading for kids:

Bookmobile still down, but books are available

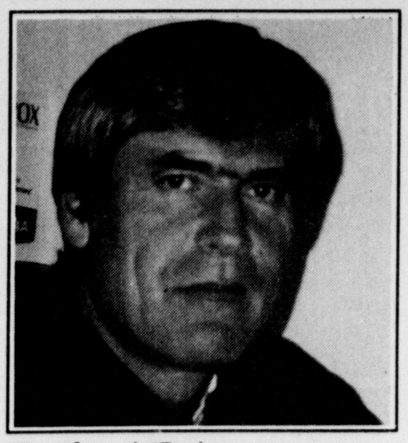

Yolo County Librarian Mary Stephens reports that the county bookmobile will remain out of service "indefinitely" due to mechanical and safety problems.

To fill in, the library is again operating a "book deposit program" to seven sites. Boxes of 125 to 150 children's books and magazines will be left at each of the seven sites.

In West Sacramento, residents may borrow these items at the book deposit sites at the Holly Court Apartments and the Broderick Christian Center. Books may be borrowed on the honor system, and the collection will be refreshed every three weeks. Titles will be available in both English and Spanish. The program will begin June 11 and continue until Sept. 1.

A few puns -- and a story from a local dog lover

My Back Pages

By Daryl Fisher

A friend of mine recently informed me that a column like mine (which attempts to be humorous from time to time) needs to have more puns in it.

"Puns are a thinking man's kind of humor," explained my friend, "and I definitely think you can make your column a little more classy if you throw some of them in now and then."

Having long suspected that this column suffers from a lack of class, here are a half-dozen or so of my friend's favorite puns:

1. A man rushed into his doctor's office and shouted, "Doctor! I think I'm shrinking!"

The doctor calmly responded, "Now, settle down. You'll just have to be a little patient."

2. A marine biologist developed a race of genetically engineered dolphins that could live forever if they were fed a steady diet of seagulls. One day his supply of birds ran out, so he had to go out and trap some more. On the way back, he spied two lions asleep on the road. Afraid to wake them, he gingerly stepped over them. Immediately, he was arrested and charged with transporting gulls across sedate lions for immortal porpoises.

3. A thief broke into the local police station and stole all the lavatory equipment, including all the toilet seats.

A spokesperson for the police was quoted as saying, "We have absolutely nothing to go on."

4. A famous Viking explorer returned home from a voyage and found his name missing from the town register. His wife insisted on complaining to the local civic officials who apologized profusely saying, "I must have taken Leif off my census."

5. Evidence has been found that William Tell and his family were avid bowlers. However, all the league records were unfortunately destroyed in a fire. Thus, we'll never know for whom the Tells bowled.

6. A guy wrote a bunch of original puns and then entered ten of them in a "best pun" contest. He figured that with ten entries he couldn't lose. And as they were reading the list of winners he was really hoping one of his puns would win, but unfortunately, no pun in ten did.

I received a note last week from R.O. Strickler, a longtime News-Ledger subscriber, which read, "I know you have readers with pets that they love. Many of those pets are getting old and the decision on putting them down will soon come up. It's a very hard thing to talk about, and if you are a pet lover, I know it really hurts. Perhaps if you would print these two little stories, it will help some of them."

Thanks for the note, Mr. Strickler, and although I only have space for one of the stories, I appreciate you sending them along and here is the one I liked best:

"I had a real good friend named Buddy, one great dog. At 15 he had everything wrong that you could imagine. Everybody said I had to put him down, but there was just no way I could do it. I bundled him up in my jacket with me and walked to the middle of the bridge thinking that if he had to go I would go with him. He tried to lick me, and I looked into his eyes and he said, Bob, let's try to get through one more day. I got him home about daylight and he drank a little milk and even ate a little bologna. I put him up on the heated water bed and curled up around him. When I woke up, Buddy wasn't with me anymore, but looking at him I could hear him saying, thank you Bob for one more day."

Tony Venditti update: Tony is now completely unplugged from all the various medical equipment which was used to stabilize his condition after his accident and is getting closer and closer to waking up from his coma. "He is doing a great job of responding to commands," explained his cousin, Shannon Freeman. "For instance, if I ask him to blink one of his eyes, or smile, or stick out his tongue, he does. And today we had him outside in his chair in the sunshine for almost two hours and that went really well. Hopefully before too long he will begin rehabilitation outside the hospital for his paralysis and then be able to go home."

Shannon also mentioned that Tony's family and friends have scheduled a get-together to discuss different possible fundraisers to help cope with some of the costs which have resulted from Tony's accident, and the News-Ledger will be passing that information along once it becomes available.

Note: The first winner of the Grace K. Ohlson Scholarship is Vikashni Sharma, a River City High School senior who will be attending Sacramento City College next year. Congratulations Vikashni!

To date, the Grace K. Ohlson Scholarship has received 98 donations for a total of $8,680. The goal is to raise a $10,000 endowment, with the interest earnings being used to support a $500 annual scholarship for Washington Unified School District graduates who plan on attending a college in the Los Rios Community College system. Anyone who would like to make a contribution to the fund can do so by making a check payable to the Grace K. Ohlson Scholarship Fund, c/o the News-Ledger, P.O. Box 463, West Sacramento, CA 95691.

For more information about the fund, please feel free to call Daryl or Steve at the News-Ledger, 371-8030. And thanks again to all of you who have already contributed!

Pets can get Lyme disease, too!

Q. I heard that pets who spend time outdoors can get Lyme disease from ticks. How can I protect my dog from this illness?

A. It's true that dogs, cats and other mammals can contract Lyme disease from ticks carrying the bacteria that cause the illness. In fact, according to the American Lyme Disease Foundation, twice as many dogs could be at risk from this disease as humans.

Discussing an outdoor danger may not be the happiest way to usher in the summer months, but Lyme disease can be such a debilitating illness that every pet owner should be aware of the risk. And summer is one of the peak seasons for contracting it.

However, you can't keep your dog indoors during these beautiful days! Your best bet is to concentrate on minimizing the risk of exposure, as well as to recognize the symptoms of canine Lyme disease.

Before setting out into the great outdoors, take your dog to the vet to be tested for exposure to Lyme disease. If the results are negative, consider having your dog vaccinated against the illness. While available vaccines aren't always 100 percent effective, they can provide the best protection from a tick bite.

After a walk outdoors, check your dog (and yourself) for ticks, and give his or her coat a good brushing. Then, run your fingers through your dog's coat, checking the skin underneath for ticks. Remove any attached ticks carefully, using a pair of tweezers.

Throughout the summer, watch your pet carefully for any signs of canine Lyme disease. The biggest symptom is lameness, with swollen joints that often feel warm to the touch. Your dog could also seem depressed, with little appetite and could have a fever, along with swollen lymph nodes. If he or she exhibits any of these symptoms, especially a few days after a hike, take your dog to the vet to be tested for Lyme disease. Prompt diagnosis will allow your dog to be treated immediately, and he or she will recover.

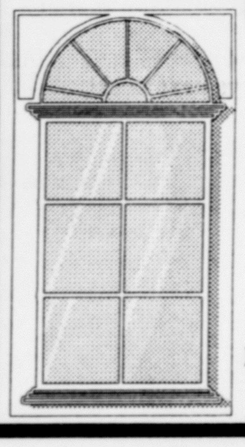

Remember, just as in humans, untreated Lyme disease can lead to chronic illness. So take a little extra care of your pet before you head outdoors, and you'll both have a healthy summer.

SPORTS INSIDER

By Richard Novoa

The Los Angeles Lakers, who enjoyed their weeklong vacation, are now preparing for Philadelphia 76ers in NBA's best of seven championship. The series will start on Wednesday, June 6th (6p.m.-ch.3) in Los Angeles. The Lakers and Sixers both finished with the same league record of 56 wins with only 26 losses but the Lakers gained the home court advantage a better conference record. The Sixers and Lakers split their season series at 1-1 but the home court is a big advantage in the finals. The Sixers needed to use their home court advantage to squeak by the Bucks in seven games.

A decision to use his bench in the season finale loss to the lowly Chicago Bulls by the NBA coach of the Year, Larry Brown, may come back to haunt the 76ers. Had the Sixers won their last game of the season against the Bulls the 76ers would own the best record in the NBA and the Lakers would be traveling on Wednesday to Philly for the best of seven. The Lakers are won 11 playoffs games in a row and quietly talking about setting the NBA record for a clean sweep of the NBA playoffs. The Shaq and Kobe show has not lost since April 1st. The Sixers, who are 11 ½ point underdogs, must win game one in Los Angeles to avoid the sweep the Lakers are planning. It almost doesn't seem fair but the Sixers do have a slim chance to upset the mighty Lakers. In 1989 the powerful Lakers swept through the conference championship but then injuries to Byron Scott and Magic Johnson turned the tables on Lakers, who were then swept by Detroit. The Lakers streak will end but they are still the team to beat.

The Lakers in Six!

The Giants are in early June slump after losing their fifth in six games and 13 out of the last 18 ballgames! The Giants (27-29) now trail Arizona Diamondbacks by seven games in the Wild Wild West. The Giants pitchers have been getting shelled and their Triple A team (Fresno) is in the same shape. In a positive note Barry Bonds continues his march on Mark McGwire's home run record. Bonds hit his 30th HR on Monday night to become the first player ever to reach that mark so early in the season.

The Oakland A's (27-28) are playing great ball but they just can't make up any ground on those streaking Mariners. The Mariners (43-12) set a franchise record winning 11 games in row and are on an incredible pace to lead the West by 16 games over the A's and Angels.

The Giants and A's will tangle his weekend at Pac Bell Park in the battle of the Bay. The three game series starts on Friday night (7 p.m.) and ends with an afternoon game (1 p.m.-ch.31) game on Sunday.

The River Cats return home for a fireworks night game against Colorado Springs on Saturday night (7:05 p.m.) and will be home for a eight game set.

A sad note for 49ers fans as longtime San Francisco 49ers star Jerry Rice, who holds every significant NFL receiving record, was released by the team on Monday.

The 38-year-old Rice, who has a record 1,281 receptions and 187 touchdowns, had spent his entire career with the 49ers but was cut because of the team's salary cap problems. The 12-time Pro Bowl selection was the NFL Player of the Year in 1987 and 1990, and the Super Bowl MVP in 1989. He has 19,247 yards receiving, including at least one catch in his last 225 games.

Rumor has Rice crossing the bay to play with the Oakland Raiders. The Seattle Seahawks and Detroit Lions have also showed interest in Rice's services. Can you believe it ! Rice in a Silver and Black uniform!

See ya next week!

League champ RCHS team honors players

The tennis team of River City High School held its annual awards night last week. For the sixth consecutive season the Raiders won the league championship, finishing with a 13 win, one loss record in the Golden Empire League (G.E.L.) and taking the West division by a two match margin over second place Vanden. Overall in 2001, R.C. won 24 matches and lost just three, and advanced further than any other co-ed tennis team in school history in the Sac-Joaquin Section Division III team playoffs, reaching the championship match before falling 3-2 to Escalon.

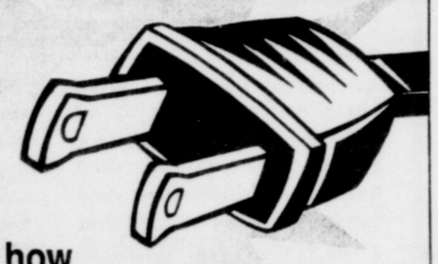

The following players were honored by the G.E.L. West for their outstanding play: First-Team All-League: Sokpin Phoung, Erin Cheechov, Keonakone Lattasima and Sokhear Touch. Honorable Mention All-League: Ka Yang, Marith Khem, Tuan Nguyen and William Clayton.

The River City Team Award winners were as follows: Most Improved Boy, Danny Beus; Most Improved Girl, Nikki Hansen: Most Valuable Girl, Keonakone Lattasima; Co-Most Valuable Boys, William Clayton and Sokhear Touch; Captains, Sou Saejao, Tuan Nguyen and Keonakone Lattasima.

Special recognition was given to graduating seniors Sou Ching Saetern, Martina Vyalkov, Ka Yang, Sokpin Phoung and Erin Cheechov. The overall team dual match record of the past four seasons for this group of seniors was 86 wins and 11 losses, including a 46-2 record in G.E.L. play. In all-time individual varsity match victories, Phoung leaves the Raiders as the winningest player ever, boy or girl, with 87 wins and only 12 defeats. Her 99 varsity matches played is also a school record. Cheechov finishes her career with a 78-11 mark, second all-time in wins. She was a perfect 28-0 in girls doubles in 2001. Yang winds up her four years at River City with a record of 60-11 for seventh place in wins among Raider girls players.

You are the answer to California's Energy Challenge!

Right now California is experiencing energy shortages, and energy costs are going up. We sometimes take energy for granted, but our decisions about how we use it at home and in the office are important.

Inexpensive energy solutions

With a quick trip to your local hardware store, you have even more choices at hand.

Install a programmable thermostat—Accidentally leaving the heat on while you are out for the day becomes a thing of the past. If you have a heat pump, be sure to select a model designed for your system.

Install low flow showerheads—You'll be surprised how much this simple device can cut your hot water costs.

Wrap your hot water tank with jacket insulation—If your water heater is gas, be sure to leave the air intake vent uncovered.

Plug your home's leaks — Weather-strip or caulk leaky doors and windows, and cover your outlets.

Replace furnace filters once a month — Dirty filters restrict airflow and increase energy use. Keep your furnace clean, lubricated and properly adjusted.

BOOK REVIEW

Harlem Was His Home

(NAPS)—Harlem was the first place Walter Dean Myers called home.

In his autobiography, Bad Boy (HarperCollins, $15.95) Myers remembers Harlem in the '40s and '50s, when Harlem was a magical place, alive with music that spilled onto the busy streets, bright colors and enticing smells, a place you might encounter Langston Hughes, Sugar Ray Robinson and Jackie Robinson.

Bad Boy*, the touching memoir of award-winning author Walter Dean Myers, reads like fiction.

There's a lot for teens to relate to and identify with in this funny, poignant memoir that reads like fiction.

Growing up, Myers was considered a "bad boy." Always an excellent reader, he was hampered by speech and behavioral problems that affected his grades, year after year, until he dropped out of New York City's prestigious Stuyvesant High School.

Eventually, Myers discovered writing and became the award-winning author of several children's books. Myers is the winner of the 2000 Printz Award for excellence in literature for young adults. He is the author of Monster; the Newbery Honor Books, Scorpions and Somewhere in the Darkness; and Harlem.

PB01-149

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of Willis Raymond Kyme, also known as W.R. Kyme and as Bill Kyme:

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Clinton Caldwell Kyme in the Superior Court of California, County of Yolo.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Clinton Caldwell Kyme be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests that the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on June 29, 2001 at 8:30 a.m. in Dept. 5, 725 Court St., Woodland, CA 95695.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided inProbate Code section 9100. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above.

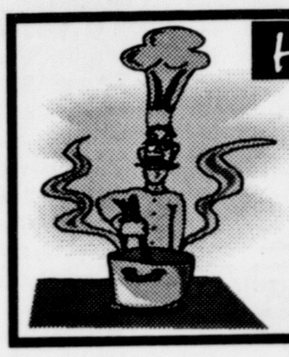

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

GREAT GRILLING

This Trend Is Hot: The Thrill Of The Grill

(NAPS)—Grilling is one of America's most popular food-related activities. It beckons more and more Americans to their backyards each year. Grilling, or barbecuing as it is referred to in some parts of the country, is hotter than ever!

In fact, according to the Barbecue Industry Association, 75 percent of U.S. households own a barbecue grill and 57 percent of those who own grills use them year-round. We relax with family and friends in the yard and enjoy our favorite foods—from meats to fish and vegetables straight off the flame.

Americans love grilling because they are looking for easy dinners that require minimal clean-up and offer healthy alternatives. Even restaurants touting fresh grilled goods are getting rave reviews.

Adding to the trend, indoor grills are creating a stir in mealtime planning. This is an excellent, safe way to continue to grill year round—allowing, for example, a taste of summer in January—right inside your kitchen. Just don't try to improvise by using your outdoor grill inside. Using an outdoor grill in a tent, trailer, garage or enclosed area can create lethal amounts of carbon monoxide.

Ribs are a grilling favorite, especially for a casual backyard barbecue. They can be pre-cooked (oven-braised), creating a great make-ahead recipe. This recipe only requires ten minutes of grill time. Tools that make this job easier are tongs and a basting brush such as those the Pampered Chef® offers. Serve with deli coleslaw, corn on the cob, watermelon wedges and frosted brownies for a tasty summer meal.

Kansas City BBQ Ribs make a great grilled dish.

Kansas City BBQ Ribs
Prep time: 20 minutes, Cook time: 1 hour, Grill time: 10 minutes

Ribs
- 4½-5 pounds pork baby back ribs (2 slabs)
- 5 garlic cloves, pressed
- 1½ teaspoons Pantry Lemon Pepper Seasoning Mix
- 3 cups tomato juice

Sauce
- 1½ cups ketchup
- 1 cup packed brown sugar
- ½ cup cider vinegar
- ¼ cup Worcestershire sauce
- 1 teaspoon chili powder

1. Preheat oven to 400°F. For ribs, cut each slab into thirds using Kitchen Shears and place in Rectangular Lid/Bowl. Press garlic over meaty sides of ribs using Garlic Press; spread with Skinny Scraper. Sprinkle with Seasoning Mix. Carefully pour tomato juice around ribs; cover with Rectangular Baker. Bake 1 hour. Carefully remove Baker from Lid/Bowl. Remove ribs from Lid/Bowl. Discard tomato juice.

2. Meanwhile, for sauce, whisk together all ingredients in Petite Saucepan using Nylon Spiral Whisk. Bring to a boil over medium-high heat; reduce heat to medium-low and cook 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Reserve 3/4 cup sauce for serving with grilled ribs.

3. Prepare grill for cooking at medium temperature. Place ribs, meaty side up, on lightly greased grid of grill. Brush with half of remaining sauce using Barbecue Basting Brush. Cover; grill 5 minutes. Turn ribs over using Barbecue Tongs; brush with remaining sauce. Continue grilling, covered, 5 minutes. Reheat reserved sauce and serve with ribs.

Yield: 6 servings

Cook's Tips: Baby back ribs are really pork loin back ribs that are shorter, thus making them easier to hold when eating. Pork loin back ribs will work equally well in this recipe.

Ribs can be baked up to 2 days before being grilled. Wrap tightly and refrigerate until grilling time. The sauce can be prepared at the same time. Refrigerate in covered container.

If using a charcoal grill, light charcoal briquettes and allow about 30 minutes for coals to reach a medium cooking temperature. The surface of the coals will be ash-covered. Coals should be spread in a single layer. If using a gas grill, consult the owner's manual for heating directions.

OPINION

Letters to the Editor

No pay, no play

The West Sacramento American Legion baseball teams are asking the people of West Sacramento to donate money to help pay for the use of Raley Field this year. Although we played a double-header there last year for free and had been told we had four dates this year (2001), and although we believed we had a continuing commitment from the Sacramento River Cats to play on their field every year (because of our efforts in support of bringing the team to West Sacramento) we were informed a few days ago that the River Cats now want us to pay $500 per day to use their field. We are effectively locked out unless we can come up with the money.

All of this raises the issue of why don't we have our own park, a place where the kids can play baseball, softball, maybe fish in a pond, swim in a pool, have a family picnic, and just have a good time. All the talk seems to be centered around the development of this area, with new houses, a new city hall, a new bridge, widening roads, etc., but what about a place for the citizens to hang out on a lazy summer day? We deserve it. All nice towns have a park like that. With the commute around here becoming what it is, it is even more important to have a place like a park to sit and relax and play, and to us there's nothing more relaxing than sitting and watching a good game of baseball, played by athletes who are not worried about money, but play for the love of the game.

If you would like to donate some money to help us pay to play and not break the hearts of a few young boys, please call Johnny Lopes at 371-5911.

If you would like to see a multi-use park built in West Sacramento, please call your city council members. There is no better time than now.

Vets honoring vets

On June 16th at 10 a.m. the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 8762, in partnership with the City of West Sacramento, will be dedicating two plaques in Veteran's Plaza honoring veterans of World War I and Desert Storm. I believe we will then be the only city to have all the wars represented in a war memorial. And a special thanks to the City of West Sacramento staff and all our elected officials for the placement of two of the finest looking flag poles I have ever seen.

I would also like to invite all veterans and their families to share this day with us, including the V.F.W. in Bryte. It will be a wonderful day of remembrance. God bless West Sacramento.

Thanks

On behalf of the Yolo County Drug Court Task Force, I would like to extend a public thank you to the many businesses and organizations that supported out recent Drug Court picnic.

The ravages of drug addition often conceal the triumph of those who have found sobriety and recovery. The testimony of the Drug Court graduates, and their personal and professional success after recovery, offer hope and evidence that the battle can be won. The victory was evident in the faces of the graduates, their families, friends and children, and the counselors and recovery staff who fought the battle with them. It was a joyous occasion, made possible by the support of the entire community.

That community includes the following organizations without whose support the picnic would not have been possible. Our community is fortunate to have such good neighbors:

Raleys, Target, Wal-Mart, Carl Jr, Sacramento River Cats, City of West Sacramento Parks and Recreation, City of Woodland Parks and Recreation, Yolo County Food Bank, Delta Roadmasters, Cache Creek Lodge, CommuniCare Health Centers, Yolo County Board of Supervisors, West Sacramento Parks and Community Services Commission, and the West Sacramento City Council.

Some thoughts on McVeigh

I am no fan of Tim McVeigh, the bomber-killer of over 160 folds in his confessed destruction of the federal building in Oklahoma. Normally, I would favor the death penalty for such a criminal.

But now we hear of major portions of evidence (deliberately or inadvertently) on his case withheld prior to his conviction.

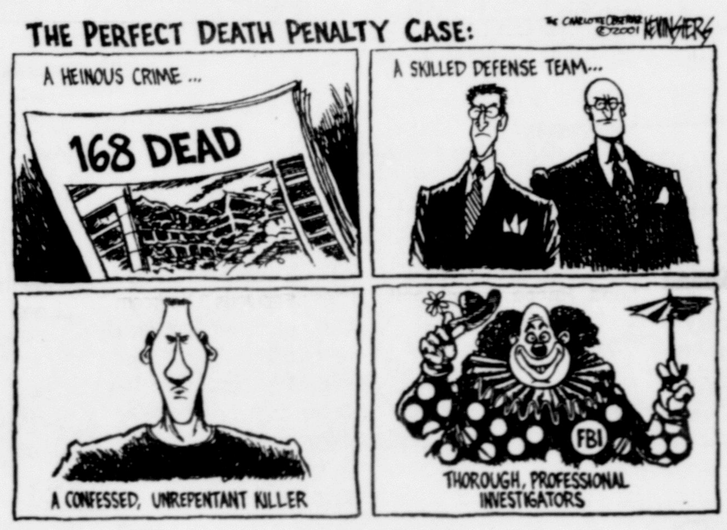

That brings to mid the standard pre-testimonial question of all witnesses: "Do you swear to tell the whole truth and nothing but the truth, so help you, God?" And the standard answer is "I do." So how can the whole truth be told when major portions of testimony/evidence are withheld? Those doing the withholding are thus not allowing the whole truth to be presented to the judge and jury, when applicable. And too often, a partial truth is an outright lie! (One wonders how often partial truths result when witnesses are cut off (verbally) and are thus allowed to offer only part of the testimony they thought would they would be giving). Correct directions as to how to get from point A to point B could be altered to appear to be incorrect (by observers, like a jury) if recipient of directions were forced to stop (say) two blocks short of planned destination. So it's that verbal appearance that makes a witness' testimony sound just the opposite of that intended when cut off, or quoted out of context, resulting in a partial truth.

As each side tries to outsmart the other, one must wonder how often the prosecution vs. the defense withholds significant evidence and how often the net effect would be to swing the decision the other way. Maybe some day we'll have a better system of both sides sharing significant evidence and in the process weeding out the non-evidence.

Meanwhile, maybe we should forget a death penalty for McVeigh and turn the news media and movie industry loose on him. Require half the profits be sent to victim-survivors and don't allow McVeigh any satisfaction from viewing the news-movies of which he is the subject. Cost of his annual incarceration should be deducted before determining movie profits. And the loneliness would punish his ego more and longer than an execution.
